Your India trip guide

The short list of things first-time visitors ask us most, so your days at the monuments run smoothly.

Taj Mahal, Agra

- The Taj Mahal is closed on Fridays. Plan your Agra day for another day.
- Sunrise has the softest light and the fewest people. October to March is the coolest season.
- Allowed: a small bag, water bottle, phone and camera. Not allowed: food, large bags, drones, lighters and sharp objects.
- You remove your shoes or wear shoe covers before the inner chamber.
- Bring your ticket and a valid photo ID.

Delhi sights

- The Lotus Temple is closed on Mondays. Please check opening days before you fix the date.
- Akshardham Temple does not allow phones, cameras or bags inside. There is a cloakroom at the entrance.
- At mosques and temples, cover your shoulders and knees and expect to take your shoes off.
- Chandni Chowk is crowded: keep bags in front and valuables out of sight.

What to wear and pack

- Light cotton clothes and comfortable walking shoes.
- Sunscreen, sunglasses and a hat. A light scarf is handy for temples.
- A small bag only, since large bags are not allowed at several monuments.
- A power bank and some small cash for tips and snacks.

Your day with us

- Your driver and guide meet you at your hotel or the airport at the agreed time. Please confirm the pickup time and meeting point the evening before.
- Your private car is air-conditioned and has bottled water on board.
- Ask your guide before you shop.
- Meals are paid by you unless your tour says they are included. Your guide can suggest clean, popular places.

Staying safe and avoiding scams

- Hire only guides through a company or a booked tour. Be polite but firm with anyone who offers a guide at the gate.
- Some auto-rickshaw drivers take visitors to shops for commissions. You do not have to buy anything.
- Souvenir sellers often start high. Compare before you pay.
- Drink bottled water only.
